The MSU Faculty Development Council has become the Faculty Development Network

Goals for the proposed Faculty Development Council include:

- sharing information about our facility development programs, practices and priorities;
- identifying, planning and implementing ways to communicate more effectively to maximize our efforts; and
- promoting synergies and collaborations among us.

This network is comprised of those who provide faculty development as their primary role or who have faculty development as a significant part of their portfolio of responsibilities. The members of the FDN are called Affiliates.

This includes faculty development to support:

- teaching and research as well as outreach teaching and outreach research
- issues or topics, such as multicultural education, instructional technology, compliance with policies and regulations, e.g. sexual harassment, OSHA training, contracts and grants, and academic integrity, among others
- unit-based orientation programs for new faculty and academic administrators
- researchers whose grant activities include faculty development as important dimensions of their projects.
