Creating a More Inclusive Classroom Environment

Thursday, March 17, 10:00am - 11:30am
Kellogg Center, Room 103
(Registration at 9:45am; program begins at 10:00am)

Amanda Bayer, Division of Research and Statistics, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System and Department of Economics, Swarthmore College

Recent research suggests several straightforward ways to make our teaching more effective and inclusive. This workshop offers the chance to hear about some new approaches and to decide how to implement them in your own classes. Topics include backward-design, active learning, growth mindsets, stereotype threat, implicit bias, values affirmation, and wise feedback. Come share questions and ideas, and take home specific strategies to use in your courses.

Tweet [1]