Effective Teaching and Learning Boot Camp

Wednesday - Friday, August 17th - 19th, 9:00am - 12:00pm with additional workshops and/or consultations in the afternoons.

(open to any MSU faculty or academic staff member)
All sessions will take place in the MSU Union Garden Level, Room 50.

Effective Teaching and Learning Boot Camp is an introductory workshop designed to help faculty who are relatively new to teaching to prepare for their courses and to work with students. Over three days, instructors will explore, actively exchange, and apply knowledge and ideas concerning pedagogy, practice, and design elements key to creating engaging learning environments.

The focus is on developing practical materials that instructors will be able to use immediately in their teaching. Topics to be included:

- Aligning Course Objectives, Activities and Assessments
- Syllabus Design
- Student and Classroom Issues
- Technology Resources
- Learning Outcomes Assessment
- and other essential teaching and learning topics.

Effective Teaching and Learning Boot Camp is open to any MSU faculty or academic staff member. Individuals with relatively little to no experience teaching will benefit most.

Sessions will run on:
August 17th, 18th & 19th, from 9:00am to 12:00pm with additional workshops and/or consultations in the afternoons.

All sessions will take place in the MSU Union Garden Level, Room 50.

For more info on the Effective Teaching and Learning Boot Camp, contact Dr. Patti Stewart, Director of Faculty and Instructional Development at facdevel@msu.edu

Registration for this event is required, and can be found by clicking the green "Register" button in the upper left.